The Snake River Canyon

The eight-mile trip starts here. Watch for Osprey nesting along this stretch of the river.

During this calm stretch, watch for Bald Eagles or try your hand at the oars.

The resemblance of water to braided rope occurs when the current piles up on smooth rock benches and tumbles over itself.

This bubbly section of river is the product of millions of tiny air bubbles rising to the surface after having been trapped by the rushing water.

The most famous in a series of the Snake River's legendary whitewater rapids.
